The Biggest Concerns Perceived by Students & Adults:

-Stress from academics

-Organization

-Study skills

-Focusing in class

-Self-Confidence

TJMS Counseling Team SMART Goal:

Tier 1: There will be a reduction of students who indicate they need help with stress from academics by 10% (from 39.1% to 29.1%) in the End of Year Counseling Survey.

Tier 2: At least 50% of the students will indicate that they understand the tools they can use to reduce academic stress.

Tier 2: 100% of students participating in small-groups will be able to identify 1 or more people with whom they can communicate to receive needed support.

Action Steps to Achieve SMART Goal

Tier 1: Lesson(s) for all students

-A series of asynchronous SEL lessons in stress-management techniques/mindfulness

-Classroom Meetings with counselors delivering Organization strategies

Tier 2: Small Groups for students self-identifying or identified by parents/ teachers as needing more and willing to receive more support

-Small group topics to include stress management, time-management, goal-setting, and organization
